

Abstract

A headlamp assembly for a motor vehicle, which includes a housing, and first and second reflectors pivotally secured to the housing. A connecting bar extends between the first and second reflectors for simultaneously adjusting the first reflector in response to the pivotally adjustment of the second reflector.